About the Artist

Born in Bogotá, Colombia (1983). Since childhood, she shows interest in the arts and as a teenager she starts to work on representational sculpture and painting. My paintings are created to convey the essence of nature. I rely on our desires for beauty and balance which is what I establish through the use of color, texture and harmony in each of my paintings. I begin my work by applying color layers fluently, letting each image emerge and then focus on details which bring it to life. I think of my work as a pause from our busy lives, engaging the viewer by creating an inner sense of order which can shift its emotional state.
